Gibraltar, July 22. O. S.

THE Enemy having ſtill a ſmall Body of Troops near this Place, we lately made a Sally upon them with 500 Men, and ſurpriſed their advanced Guard; whereupon the reſt of them fled in great Diſorder; and our Men marched up to their Camp, being about a League further, which they plundered, and burnt their Huts. Many of them deſerted, and came over to us, both before and ſince this Action. Their Commanding Officer ſent to the Marquis de Villadarias, that has the chief Command of the Duke of Anjou's Forces in Andaluſia, for a Reinforcement; and he gave them Orders to join him, and ſent other Troops in their room, of whom a Corporal of Horſe and a Trooper came over to us laſt Night, who ſay, That their Body conſiſts of about 250 Horſe, and 400 Foot; and that many more of them will follow their Example when they have an Opportunity. We have Advice, That a Body of Troops is marched from Carthagena to reduce the City of Murcia to the King of Spain's Obedience, having good Encouragement to hope, that not only the Inhabitants will declare for his Catholick Majeſty, but moſt of the Forces aſſembled there for the Duke of Anjou's Service by the Biſhop of Murcia will do the like, of whom a whole Troop had lately left him, and joined our Forces at Carthagena; and more of them come over to us daily.

Rome, July 31. N. S. The Motions of the Forces on both ſides in Lombardy have occaſioned the frequent ſending of Expreſſes between this City and thoſe of Ferrara and Bologna; the Legates of the two Places laſt mentioned having deſired Inſtructions how to behave themſelves upon any Troops coming into the Territories under their Juriſdiction; in relation to which the Pope's laſt Orders were ſent away to them the 29th Inſtant, who, it is ſaid, has directed them to obſerve a ſtrict Neutrality between the two Contending Parties. The Cardinal Palavicino having reſigned his Place of Governor of the City of Rome, the Pope has conferred it upon Signior Caſtelli, who took poſſeſſion of that Office this Morning. Letters from Naples give an Account of a new Eruption of Mount Veſuvio, which flames and throws out heavy Stones after a very extraordinary and terrible manner. That Country is much infeſted with Robbers, who go about in great Companies, and have ruined the Eſtates of the Duke of Popoli, and ſeveral other Perſons of Quality.

Genoa, July 31. The French having been obliged to weaken their Army before Turin, in order to ſend Reinforcements to that which is commanded by the Duke of Orleans, to enable him to make Head againſt Prince Eugene, who having paſſed the Po, and ſeveral other Rivers, is marching to the Duke of Savoy's Aſſiſtance; the Duke de la Feuillade has found it neceſſary, for the carrying on of the Siege of Turin, to deſiſt from purſuing his Royal Highneſs, and to bring back the Troops in that Service to the Camp before that Place, and to recall alſo the Detachment of his Troops that was attacking the Caſtle of Ceva, and the Gariſons he had put into Mondovi, Foſſano, Savigliano, and ſeveral other Places: They having abandoned theſe Poſts, and their Army employed in the Siege, notwithſtanding theſe Reinforcements, being yet not numerous enough to ſurround the Place entirely, the Duke of Savoy has had an Opportunity to ſend into it Supplies of Proviſions and Ammunition, and to remount his Cavalry, and come down again into the Plains; and his Royal Highneſs intends by frequent Skirmiſhes to haraſs the Enemy's Troops, and retard their Siege, thereby to gain time for the coming up of the Imperial Army under Prince Eugene. The Beſieged on their part continue to make a moſt vigorous Reſiſtance: They fire continually upon the Enemy, diſmount their Batteries, and kill abundance of their Men: They have ſprung ſeveral Mines with good Succeſs, and the Enemy find it neceſſary to carry on their Approaches with the utmoſt Regularity and Caution, which waſtes a great deal of their time. The Attacks being directed againſt the Citadel, the Gariſon is making new Works between that Fortreſs and the Town, reſolving to diſpute the Ground Foot by Foot. The 25th Inſtant they made a Sally, in which they beat the Enemy from three ſmall Redoubts, where they had taken Poſt, killed above 400 of them, and brought into the Town ſeveral Officers, and many private Men, whom they had taken Priſoners. The Heat of this Climate at this Seaſon, which the French are not uſed to, has rendred their Army very ſickly, which may contribute to the obliging them to raiſe the Siege.

Vienna, Auguſt 7. N. S. Yeſterday Baron Bertheldi, one of the King of Pruſſia's Privy-Council, and his Commiſſary and Plenipotentiary, received of the Emperor the Inveſtiture of the Dutchy of Croſſen, and of ſeveral other Fiefs which the King his Maſter is poſſeſſed of. Preparations are making for carrying on vigorouſly the War againſt the Hungarian Malecontents; for which purpoſe ſome Regiments of the Emperor's Forces are expected from the Rhine, to reinforce General Staremberg, who continues in his former Poſts, expecting to be joined by General Palfi, with the Troops under his Command, which were reinforced the 24th paſt by a Battalion of regular Troops, and a conſiderable Number of Militia. There have been ſome Skirmiſhes between the Imperial Troops and a Body of Malecontents that lately paſſed the River Morava, which have always ended to the Diſadvantage of the latter.
